

My Big Dream

Once there was a girl who loved ballet and her name was Lily. She was doing a rehearsal for her first big ballet show, the show was called Fairy Land. Lily was a shy girl but loved to dance and dreamed of being of being a prima ballerina when she grows up.

There was only one more day for her to practice her show, this was called the rehearsal. In the show Lily and her class are going to be the young, little fairies. First they tried on their fairy outfits to make sure they fit for the show. Then they tried on their white ballet shoes. The clothes and shoes fit everyone perfectly and the teacher, Miss Katie, was so happy they fit all the girls. Once dressed, all the girls from the ballet school had to practice their demi-plies, to get them just right. After a while, they moved onto their curtsy and then they started practicing their performance with the music. All the girls felt so happy and pretty in their ballet outfits.

When Lily got home that day, her mum helped her take her outfit off, so that she could get ready for bed. After dinner, she went to bed happy and excited for the big show. All Lily could dream about that night was being a prima ballerina when she grows up.

The next day it was their big show. Lily's mum and dad went to take a seat to watch Lily perform. Lily was behind the stage now. All the girls were stretching and she felt that she had to join in. Miss Katie called Lily and her class into the changing room to get their outfits on. Lily felt so pretty and excited.

It was time for the performance and Lily could hear the music playing. Lily's class walked onto the stage to do their performance. Lily was really nervous and felt scared to perform in front of all the parents. As the fairies were dancing, Lily fell over, she felt so embarrassed because all the other girls didn't fall over, it was only her.

Lily paused and started looking at her mum and dad, she was feeling like she was going to cry. She felt frightened and didn't know what to do, it was only the beginning of the dance and she had already fallen over. She saw her mum and dad smile at her and she knew she could get back up and carry on dancing. Lily found Emma, the girl she was meant to be dancing with on stage and joined back in. She did her demi-plies perfectly. Lily still left the stage feeling sad and embarrassed.

It was the end of the show. All the girls curtsied except Lily because she felt she was not the right person to be in the show. Then she realised she was on her own, as the other girls had left the stage. She didn't notice the girls had all been clapped for and had left. She didn't know what to do, she was the only one left on the stage. When she looked up from the floor all the parents cheered and clapped for her. Lily felt really really happy and realised she could bounce back whenever she had a fall and would now never give up, so she could be a prima ballerina when she grows up.

When Lily got home, her mum put her outfit on the chair and read her a book for bed. Lily felt so happy that all the parents clapped her in the show. She went to sleep dreaming again of being a ballerina when she's older.
